Are you looking for new ways to grow your business?

How we can help

Innovation support

Innovative businesses grow faster. If you're looking to develop or improve products or services, or exploring ways to increase productivity, why not ask our innovation experts for advice?

Get innovation support

Scotland's open innovation marketplace

Solving your business challenges through the Open Innovation Marketplace connects you to a global network of inventive organisations and offers an unrivalled opportunity for company growth. You'll work together to produce a solution and share risk and reward along the way.

Find out more about Open Innovation

Data-driven innovation

Data will drive Scotland's next economic revolution, one that represents a £20 billion opportunity to the country over the next five years. Here are some data organisations, events, opportunities and stories that can help your company on its data journey.

Find out more about data-driven innovation

Support for manufacturers

The world of manufacturing is experiencing rapid advances in digital technologies that are transforming the way we design, build and sell our products and services. See how we can help manufacturers in Scotland build a sustainable future.

Get manufacturing support

How other organisations can help

National Manufacturing Institute

The National Manufacturing Institute is a place where industry, academia and the public sector work together on ground-breaking manufacturing research to transform productivity levels, makes companies more competitive and boost the skills of our current and future workforce.

Get manufacturing support

Knowledge Transfer Partnerships

You can improve your business' competitiveness and productivity through funded partnerships with academics and researchers.

Find out more about Knowledge Transfer Partnerships

Interface

Interface helps to connect businesses and academics in order to help you innovate to create and improve products, streamline services and develop new processes.

Find out more about Interface